

summer of Love

rules schmules

some rules are made to be broken

www.evolving-parents.com

rules. without them, chaos. but sometimes, sometimes, the rules were made to be broken. like picnics in the living room, or breakfast for dinner. and it is great to have a secret list, just like this, of the ways you love to break the rules, so that when you hit a day that calls for chaos, you can pull it out and voila, magic fun.

Grab a pen, colored pencil, sharpie, crayon, whatever you can find. For five minutes, write out the ways you love turning rules into schmules.

Ready? Set? Go.